Hello, This is Shaon Speaking . . .

What should be the first word for the first issue of a new dimensional online magazine? I think 'welcome' can be the best word for it. it's a "Tiny Online Magazine" which is a new concept in journalism. here this is the first issue of that series. the writing style of this magazine will be very informal, i.e. very short very common language that we use to talk, send SMS or eMail our friends. so senior friends (including national intellectuals, researchers, prominent national figures or teachers) don't bother don't mind, it's simply a style of writing and i want to establish at least the informal English writing by publishing this magazine by this way. actually this magazine will publish only my news as it's a personal news magazine for publishing my own news and information and it's a publication of www.SHAON.Net.Tc (a personal web site) but still u'll get quite huge information from different sectors as i'm working in many different areas. any one can join with me and lots of ways are there 2 work with me and i'm waiting 4 you. any one from any where for any field!

i think i 'll get support from each n everyone, don't i?
